St. Francis of Assisi

Patron Saint of animals, ecology & merchants. Co-patron of Italy

A merchant's son of eccentric sensibilities goes radical

Though originally baptized by his mother as Giovanni (John) in honor of Saint John the Baptist, today's saint was renamed Francesco, or "Frenchy," by his father Pietro de Bernardone after Pietro returned home from trading in France. Pietro loved France, and his son's romantic, troubadour spirit likely flowed from that same cultural source. Francesco grew up in a middle-class home that engaged in the sale of fine cloth. Francis was a skilled merchant in the family business, but he enjoyed spending money more than earning it. He was a man about town, a leader among his friends, and well liked for his concern for others. He was also a failed knight. When he was twenty, Francis joined a civic-minded Assisi militia in a battle against a neighboring city. When the militia was routed, Francis was spared death and instead held for ransom due to his fine livery. He was held prisoner in a rank dungeon for a year before the ransom was paid. He returned to Assisi a more reflective man. Subsequent military service for the Papal States ended abruptly when Francis heard a voice tell him, "Follow the master rather than the man." He sold his expensive armor and horse, returned home, and began to spend hours in prayer.

3 Virtues to Grow Closer to God Fr. Gregory Pine O.P.

Can you guess what 3 virtues are needed to grow close to God? In his book, "Introduction to the Devout Life", St. Francis de Sales lists patience, humility, and meekness as the most essential virtues to live holy lives devoted to God. What makes these so important?

Patience gives us the ability to endure trials and suffering, humility helps us see ourselves as we truly are in relation to the greatness of God, and meekness calms our tempers so that we may show God's peace to others. Cultivating these virtues is just the beginning.

COMPENDIO DEL CATECISMO DE LA IGLESIA CATÓLICA

Nº 26 ¿Cuáles son en la Sagrada Escritura los principales modelos de obediencia en la fe?

Son muchos los modelos de obediencia en la fe en la Sagrada Escritura, pero destacan dos particularmente: Abraham, que, sometido a prueba, "tuvo fe en Dios" (Rm 4, 3) y siempre obedeció a su llamada; por esto se convirtió en "padre de todos los creyentes" (Rm 4, 11.18). Y la Virgen María, quien ha realizado del modo más perfecto, durante toda su vida, la obediencia en la fe: "Fiat mihi secundum Verbum tuum – hágase en mí según tu palabra" (Lc 1, 38).

Monseñor José Ignacio Munilla

¿Cuáles son nuestros modelos en la fe? Abraham y María. No dice Jesús, sólo Abraham y María, y es importante explicar esto: Jesús no es nuestro modelo en la fe, porque la relación que tiene Jesús con el Padre, no es una relación de fe. En ningún pasaje de la Escritura encontraréis que se hable de la fe de Jesús; Jesús tenía un grado de conocimiento del Padre, muy superior al que se tiene por la fe. Jesús ve al Padre, tiene una intimidad intratrinitaria. Algunas explicaciones de la figura de Jesús, algunas cristologías, por desgracia son deficientes cuando hablan de la fe de Jesús, y es algo que el Magisterio de la Iglesia ha corregido a algunos teólogos, diciéndoles que es incorrecto hablar de la fe de Jesús.
